CTR IS HERE TODAY BECAUSE WIKILEAKS JUST DROPPED TWO FUCKING ATOM BOMBS:

First, DOCUMENTED PROOF THAT HILLARY WAS ILLEGALLY TAKING BRIBES

LITERALLY USES THE WORDS "PAY TO PLAY"

>"Can we set up a time for a very brief call to go over our process for handling donations from donors who have given us pay to play letters? Want to make sure we have a robust process in place to make sure that donations that come in from those donors, in any form, get put into the operating account."

THIS IS IT

Can moderators please start deleting threads that feature links to Wikileaks leaks and banning the users that create them?

Much of the leaks consists of materials that make it easy to doxx someone, such as personal phone numbers, emails and social security numbers.

There is also no worthwhile information contained in those leaks, so in a sense, creating those threads is equivalent to posting spam, since it generates no positive or substantive discussion.

Trump is worse because he's creating a False Hope for the American people, and promising things that will never happen. I don't think he's going to be a bad President.

Hillary is just overall more realistic, but she is going to ruin America, and with her in office, we should be prepared for more Attacks on American soil. Trump will not allow those attacks to happen, and that's the main reason I support him, he really does care about America, I cannot say the same for Hillary.

I think this post might actually be a shill.
I haven't seen any mention of personal information in this thread.
Furthermore, this is absolutely a political topic, whether or not you deem it "worthwhile". There are far more less political threads on this board. In fact looking right now, one of the front page threads is just the statement "women's rights to free speech was a mistake" which isn't even a discussion, it's just a statement, so I would imagine you'd argue that that should also be removed?
My point is, you seem very adamant that this post shouldn't stay for absolutely (in my opinion) no reason.

First, if those leaks were in any shape or form substantive, then reputational sources that arn't pro-Hillary would be all over them (The Intercept for example).

Second, there is not a single incriminating email in those leaks. All they prove is that Soros is a genuine progressive activists and donates his money accordingly.

Sometimes I just want to drive until the streets run out.
I want to burn until there's nothing left to burn about.
This city's waiting for a better day.
When I get back there will be hell to pay.
But, if I'm the only one left standing,
I will not be afraid to fight.
I'm breaking out of here tonight.

I feel a fever coming on me,
burning out of control.
And I hear nothing but the static.
For years now there's been nothing but the static on the radio.
If you can hear my voice outside these walls,
if you can hear me sending out this message tonight,
then break the silence, send a signal back.
I'm coming, all I need is a little guiding light.
...If you can hear me.

1. I don't know any huge anti-Hilary media sources, and even if they aren't jumping on it, that doesn't mean it should be discredited.
2. Even if there isn't anything incriminating in the emails (which I disagree with you), there's no reason not to discuss them on here, like you suggest.
Again, you're adamantly defending this for some reason. And if you really aren't a shill I don't know why you would.

Rule 4: You will not post or request personal information ("dox")
>Wikileaks leaks contains material that can dox people, therefor linking it to /pol/ constitutes a violation of rule 4

Rule 6: The quality of posts is extremely important to this community >these "leaks" (LOL) contain no substantive information and therefore their quality is inherently low. This constitutes a violation of rule 6.

Rule 10: No spamming or flooding of any kind.
>There are at least 5 CTR/Wikileaks threads posted at any one time. This constitutes a violation of rule 10.

These are my arguments to the moderators, not to the users who will erroneously label me a shill. I think I have laid an irrefutable case for deleting Wikileaks threads and taking action on the users. In either case, I respect their decision.
